Sept. 1st Deadline Appears Practical On Dike & Pumps

Big Engine And Pumps On Site At Twenty-Mile Bend

Gahagan Construction Company has moved the large rotary dredge which was brought down the West Palm Beach Canal recently back to the north end of L-7 and put it to work piling rock on the dike.

The machine has been pumping muck from the borrow pit, but it was found that the August 1st deadline for the completion of the dike might be jeopardized, another dredge was secured to remove the muck from the pit and the large dredge put to work on actually piling up the dike. This step makes the August first schedule more likely to be reached.

Also noteworthy progress is being made on the installation of pumps at Twenty-Mile Bend, as part of the three pumps are already installed, with an impeller on the ground and more following. Wednesday the first of the 1500 horsepower engines was unloaded at the site.

Three of the 350,000 gallon pumps are supposed to turn over on September 1st with the other three to follow.

Lamar Johnson, Engineer for the Central and South Florida Canal, said "It is possible under an imaginable condition to have water dumped into the Hillsboro Canal from the northern conservation area, to flow towards the Lake. Therefore, we have secured permission to dig a temporary dam in the Hillsboro, in such a case, to prevent this."

The boys seem to be on their toes in anticipation of necessity for flood protection.

The recent deal with landowners, county and U.S.S.R. work on the Boles Canal, as well as the possible preliminary work on dikes L-2 and L-3, seem to fill the most urgent gaps in flood protection to the Glades temporarily.

These particular items will afford some actual relief to our farmers in high water.

Ed Lively will be guest speaker at the meeting of the Business and Professional Women's Club, Tuesday night, Feb. 16.

Mrs. Imogene Fontaine and Mrs. Mary Fox will be co-hostesses at the former home, 939 N. W. 4th St. at 8 o'clock. Any women in the community interested in the B.P.W.C. are invited to attend.

TO YOU SAYS CITY

Our City Fathers — at least three of them — say to the citizens of Belle Glade if you want your water fluoridated then say so in an election to be designated by them sometime during May.

So, the voters of this community will most likely be bombarded with arguments from the fluoridators and the non-fluoridators between now and May.

The City Fathers also reduced the performance bond of plumbers from $5,000 to $2,000.

Passed a resolution permitting prisoners to be used on private property "when it is public work or the City is performing a governmental function."

Appointed Commissioners Carlin and Ingram along with the City Manager to work with the Chamber on the disbursement of funds allocated for public works.

Granted A. L. Wallis a judgment of the suit and dismissed the amount of $12,178 with the accompanying statement by Wallis that he wished to pay the money when able.

Considered other routine matters and adjourned at ten o'clock.

NEWS OF JUNIORS SS OF FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH

Our programs this month are based on the theme of "Singing and Making Melody." For the past several Sundays we have had the pleasure of having as guests Mr. and Mrs. Oglesby, who have been leading us in some very good singing. Mr. and Mrs. Oglesby are from Decatur, Ill.

We had a lot of fun last Sunday when we introduced our talking cloth that tells whether we're late or on time.

Barbara McClure was presented an award by her teacher, Mrs. Gladys Edwards, for outstanding work in her class for the past year.

Come and join our "Fact-a-week-Club." Next Sunday will be a very special day for those in the Junior Department. We are having a Rally Day and expect to attain a goal of 75 in attendance.

On this Sunday, February 14th, the class with the highest grade will be honored. Also the boy and girl who turns in the highest number of prospective members will be awarded.

Our program will last through the preaching hour when all Juniors will attend the morning service in a special group of their teachers.

All parents of Juniors are especially invited for the 11 o'clock service.

FFA Boys Grow And Harvest Crops

On thirty-five acres of land several miles west and north of Chosen the Future Farmers of America grow and harvest their crops. The cabbage was planted to mature in two crops. The majority of cabbage will be cut around March 1. Very little of the first crop was cut due to low market.

The FFA boys purchased all seed, spray, etc. together as a chapter cooperative to give boys experience. The land was plowed and disked by some of the older boys and is split up according to their Agriculture class. It is 11-111 on a 3-2-1 ratio.

Two boys, Buck Jones and Don Crosby have three acres in bell peppers. Each boy takes turn spraying and dusting and each boy is responsible for his own crop.

The school boys are leased from the state, with most of the equipment needed to carry on program loaned by Walter Schreiner, Paul Kirchman, John Hooker, George Goforth, F. L. Anderson, Kirchman, C. Miller and Webb.

OUTDOOR FLORIDA

By Herb Meier

The cool February weather Florida has been having reminds me somehow of my father's first cousin Louie Eckardt, who one day left Toronto for Alaska "up on the Arctic Ocean, where he liked it so well that he stayed 40 years. He then returned to Toronto, went to California . . . where the ice killed him quickly. What I am getting at, of course, is that this cool weather is simply wonderful, but we in Florida are not equipped to handle it.

LOCAL ACTIVITIES TO BE FILMED FOR TV AND PUBLICITY DISTRIBUTION

Authority of the City Commission to use a part of the publicity fund provided by it to the Chamber of Commerce towards a community publicity film brings out the story of such an endeavor.

American Productions, a group of technicians with years of experience have formed this company for the purpose of making film productions of about ten minutes duration for television and group use. Among this group are writers, cameramen and directors who have had years of service in their respective fields in addition to special educational preparation.

In order to secure community support both financially and in the making of the film a 10% participation in the total cost is asked of local organizations. The action of the Commission on Wednesday night marked the ninth participant's entrance.

Mr. Don Haldane will bring his group to Belle Glade next week for studies by script writer.

Confidence
There is no more encouraging word in the entire Word of God than that expression used so frequently by John in his first Epistle—the words, "We know."
John was bothered by those in the vicinity who thought they knew, and who bombastically declared it, but who in reality were ignorant.
The mystery religions of John's time were quite vocal in their claims. Salvation by knowledge, they said. We have been initiated into that knowledge. The deep secrets are in our hands. We know.
John was not slow in his reply. Salvation, he claimed, was by faith, and faith brought knowledge.
"These things have I written unto you which believe... that ye may know..."
Faith is basic of knowledge, in the things of God.
To believe is to know, and to know is to walk with confidence. This treasury of Divine knowledge is so full. It is wide open to folk of obedient faith.
"The natural man receiveth not the things of the Spirit of God for they are foolishness unto him; neither can he know them, because they are spiritually discerned. But he that is spiritual discerneth."
Knowledge begets confidence. The surgeon goes with confidence to a delicate operation, because he knows how.
The student approaches the examination room with firm tread because he is fully prepared.
The believing soul, walking humbly with God, can face the world, the perplexities of life, and even the searchings of the life to come, because of a confidence which comes by reason of his knowledge of God, and that knowledge will develop daily as the mind of God is sought and the promptings of God are obeyed.
We need to know God more and more. Thus shall we foil the devil's sick tactics.
The soul bending low before God can stand erect before the world.
God is sufficient for our every need. —Heart and Life.

How to Hold Young People in Community
Twenty retired farmers of the South Waterloo Church of the Brethren in Iowa have built houses for themselves near their open-country church and have turned their farms over to their sons to manage. The story of this and 15 other rural churches that are holding their young people is described in a bulletin entitled, "A New Gospel of the Soil." It is being sent out on request by the Rural Church Department, Madison, N. J.

A Hymn Is Born

BY CLINT BONNER

Lead, Kindly Light

A composer dodges London traffic to write a melody

The Rev. John Bacchus Dykes could compose a melody in a thunder storm. Of the 300 hymn-tunes to his credit many are found in crowded railway stations and on trains. It is said that the title notes of his best compositions in the pulpit while waiting to deliver his sermons. So neither the rumbling carriages nor clattering wheels of shoppers interrupted his thoughts as he hurried along the streets of London.
Composer Dykes was running through his mind a poem he had read in an old March, 1834, hymn. "The Light of the World" was the title under the title "Faith—Heavenly Leadings" and had been written in June, 1831, by a disturbed Protestant minister named John Henry Newman. Newman had vigorously criticized the Roman church. Then he pondered leaving the Protestant faith for the church he had denounced. By the time he was 30 the Londoner had shattered his health and he took a trip to Italy for rest.
Homeless, stricken with fever and depressed, Newman waited three weeks for a return boat to his native England. When he finally got passage his ship stopped in the Mediterranean. The sails hung limp on the masts and not a breeze stirred for a week. With the prospect of starvation, and with the illness and confusion mind, Newman wrote his prayer poem. He had no thought of its ever being used as a hymn. Two weeks later the ship docked. Twelve years later Newman made up his mind. He went to Rome, Italy.

By the time John Bacchus Dykes reached his study that August day in 1855, the time to an immortal hymn had been born. And Cardinal John Henry Newman always insisted that it was the tune Dykes composed while walking through the busiest section of London that made popular his words.

I loved the garish day,
And, spite of fears,
Pride ruled my will,
Remember not past years.
So long Thy power hath blest me, sure it still
Will lead me on,
O'er moor and fen, o'er crag and torrent, till
The night is gone,
And with the morn,
Those angel faces smile,
Which I have loved long since,
And lost a while.

to the mortal senses, there is seeming discord. It is our ignorance of God, the divine Principle, which produces apparent discord, and the right understanding of Him restores harmony" (390: 4-9).
The Responsive Reading includes the following verses from the Bible:
"God be merciful unto us, and bless us, and cause his face to shine upon us; That thy way may be known upon earth, thy saving knowledge as the light of the nations" (Psalms 67: 1, 2).
Next Sunday, Septuagesima, approximately seventy days before Easter, marks the Pre-Lenten season explains Father John Clarence Petrie, vicar of St. John the Apostle Episcopal Church, a time when it is quite customary for the clergy to take some one subject and give it a more thorough treatment than one sermon would permit. His theme this year will be The Life of Christ, the first of the series, for on St. John the Baptist, Forerunner of the Messiah. The service will be the Holy Communion. The hour will be as usual at 9 a. m. and in the Woman's Club building.

OUTLINE FOR THE INTERNATIONAL UNIFORM SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON
February 14, 1954
LESSON TOPIC — "Jesus Declares His Diary"
SCRIPTURE LESSON — John 7:37-44: 8-12-19
By Rev. Robert Ford

INTRODUCTION:
As background for today's lesson, we have the Feast of Tabernacles (John 7 and 8) in Jerusalem. This feast was in commemoration of the days when the Children of Israel lived in tents in the wilderness. Here it is that Jesus asserts His Diary. I. THE WATER OF LIFE — John 7:37-39
Part of the ritual in the Feast was to fill a jar with water from the pool of Siloam and take it to the Temple. Water is so necessary for physical life and well being, so is Christ necessary for spiritual life and well being. Augustine expressed this truth when he said that we were made for God and that our hearts will always be restless until they rest in Him. Jesus also said that those who are filled by Him have the capacity to lead others to this answer to life's deepest need.

II. FAITH AND UNBELIEF — John 7:40-52
Here we have the division among the people as they are confronted by this great claim of Jesus to be the Water of Life. III. THE LIGHT OF THE WORLD — John 8:12-19
We have here the assertion under the figure of LIGHT of the same basic truth concerning himself which Jesus has been making throughout the whole of this Gospel. Those who are willing to follow Jesus do not need to walk in darkness. Unto them is the promise of the Light of Life.

CONCLUSION:
COME: One of the most important words in the vocabulary of life. He beckons men to come to him and find the answer to their needs. If any man thirsts, if any hunger, if any are weary, if any are sad, if any are discouraged, if any are distressed, afraid, worried, confused, unclean, desperate, in darkness — all are invited to come — all are assured of real help. You who are in desperate need, harken to his gracious invitation and turn to him for help. He is the Divine Son of God to whom has been given all Power.

ELECTRIC CLOTHES DRYER
This year put an end to hanging up and taking down the laundry...in worry about wind, rain and broken lines. The cost? Just a family average of a penny or two a day!

ELECTRIC IRONER
Enjoy sit-down comfort instead of a "backbreaking" hand iron this year. The cost? An average of less than a half-penny a day per person!

You'll be amazed at how little it costs to operate additional electric appliances in a typical Florida home...just pennies a day!

Here's why! As you "step-up" your use of electricity, you "step-down" the average rate you pay. Operating even major appliances adds only a few pennies a day to your electric bill...your biggest bargain in better living!

colorful attractions are billed in the show. The romantic team of Michael Meahan and Joan Hylford headline the list of principal stars, along with beautiful Jinx Clark and Dashing Rudy Richards. Thrilling precision are demonstrated by the incomparable Glamour "Lovers" — 36 of them, once again appearing in all of the number production spectacles—starting the rousing opening number "Hello Everybody" to the beautiful and magnificent finale "Let's Say It With Music." The clutch of stars, led by Jo Freisinger with his thrilling leaps and action packed acrobatics will be evident in two important numbers.

The producers have announced that the new show will present Kay Farrell, the sensational European juggler on ice, who has thrilled many HOLIDAY ON ICE audiences in past seasons. Kay has been journeying in Europe and South America and has just returned for HOLIDAY.

Other novelty acts have been announced for the new production and outstanding is the team of Mary Bohland and Calvin Cook, who perform an acrobatic, a grand feat of acrobatics on ice, which has been seen in HOLIDAY ON ICE productions in the past.

Comedy, always a strong point with HOLIDAY ON ICE, headlines "The Little Sailor," Paul Andre in a series of laugh-getting sketches. Other star comedy turns are offered by Flip and Flop and Marvin Shaw with strong assists from Ted Meza, Kenny Brent, Art Pison and Bill Seesley.

The grand old man of the ice, Phil Elser, and his lovely waiting partner, Mae Freisinger, will dance their way into your hearts with their latest interpretation of "Down Memory Lane."

The cast of principal performers include that very important little package, 11 year old Joan Freisinger, and her newest solo presentation.

Young Bill Blocker who scored such tremendous success with last year's HOLIDAY ON ICE, again returns with a smooth skating number set in romantic Paris.

Bob Saccente, whirl-wind teenage discovery of last season, has developed new and entirely different acrobatic feats for the 1954 show.

officials, sponsors of the show, are raving and tearing their hair in an effort to keep things moving and exhibitors happy. In the Chrysler Building, Mr. Whitley is going stark staring mad trying to get all of his material in place that when the fair opens he will be ready to give the customers something for their money. His "New Worlds in Motion" show is an outstanding feature of the 1954 fair.

Everywhere you turn you find hundreds of artisans running around like ants, carrying Celos and other materials. Doctors, dentists, chiropractors, nurses, firemen, policemen, deputy sheriffs, boy scouts — all are in the act.

Livestock and poultrymen are busy setting up their exhibits; dairy companies are struggling with their Milking Parlors, Fish and Game officials are vying with forestry officials in an effort to attract fair visitors.

The U. S. Army, concerned with educating the public on its program, has arranged an exceptional audience participation program, and is setting up the most interesting display ever presented.

If you could sit in a helicopter and look down on the whole operation you would get exactly the same impression that you would from standing over an ant hill and watching their operations.

You would think that everyone was stark staring mad. You could not believe that anybody in the mad melee knew what he was doing or why. But I am here to tell you that all of these folks are sane, and normal and doing a job. When the gates of the Florida State Fair opened at 10:00 A. M. Feb. 2 with the

Too Late To Classify

Did you ever take time out to watch a nest of ants, hundreds of them, busy about the mysterious business that occupies the life of ants? If you have, you probably looked on the operation as a magnificent example of "organized confusion."

Watch them a few minutes and you will become as dizzy as a dooped doodle bug. The crazy critters run this way and that, crawl over each other and appear to be going in every direction at once. They never walk to the nearest exit, they always turn.

Take a stick and stir up the hill and the confusion is amplified a hundredfold. You wonder if one single ant in the crowd knows what he is doing or why. None of it seems to make any sense.

With all due respect to the ants, I have found another operation that makes them look like rank amateurs. I've just come from the grounds of the Florida State Fair where hundreds of folks are running around like crazy and, compared to the average ant hill, these humans are crazier.

Men, women and children are swarming over the fair grounds running hither and yon, climbing over each other and carrying on like crazy. Carpenters with nails in their teeth and hammers in their hands get in the way of scenic artists; telephone linemen and radio engineers stumble over each other; truck drivers swear at pedestrians; carries run out of sight; and, General Manager Hucksion sits in his private den and hopes for the best.

At the Electrical Exposition building hundreds of guys are busy trying to sort out all of the various exhibits and get them properly placed. Tampa Electric

Health TOPICS

BABY POWDER
In the care of baby's tender skin, dusting powder has become as commonplace as milk soap and warm water. With reasonable caution, it is perfectly safe to use.

In composition, baby powders do not differ greatly from those intended for adults. One obvious difference is that they are usually only lightly scented or not scented at all. They should be highly absorbent, soft to touch and entirely free from gritty particles.

One ingredient found in some of these powders has been questioned. This is an anti-bacterial substance. The skin normally is inhabited by a number of bacteria but the normal healthy child has sufficient defense to prevent infection by these organisms.

No one as yet proved that anti-bacterial powders effectively improve general health and maintain the child. These substances present the possibility of sensitization resulting in a skin condition. If a skin condition does show up, it is wise to consult the physician. Only under his supervision should any preparation be applied to the affected area.

Baby powders are intended to make the child more comfortable. Use to help prevent skin rashes that arise from or are aggravated by excess moisture. One aid in avoiding diaper rash is thorough washing and drying of the skin after each diaper change, followed by powdering to absorb any remaining moisture. This is undoubtedly one of the best uses for baby powder. When skin is excessively dry, oil instead of powder should be used.

The careful mother will not allow her baby to play with the powder container. There is the possibility that it may be opened and that the powder may get into the baby's eyes and thus he may develop his stings. Some cases of pneumonia have been reported as a result.
